CLINTON, N. C., OCT. 24, 1889.

Goldsboro now has electric lights.

The Democratic party is united, and when it is united New York is a Democratic State.—New York World.

A rare collection of American coins are on exhibition at the Paris Exposition. It is said that one fifth of them are from North Carolina.

Chauncey M. Depew predicts that the World's Fair will be in New York in 1892 and that Grover Cleveland will be the Democratic nominee at that time.

Wanamaker has named a postoffice in Wyoming Grover and the postmaster is Thurman. A clever combination with "eternal fitness."—Wil. Messenger.

Col. L. L. Polk editor of the Progressive Farmer, will go to the Atlanta Exposition in a special car sent from that place for him. He makes an address at the Exposition.

The Goldsboro Fair is now in full blast and exceeds the brightest expectations of the managers, it is said. The Argus says that its probably about the largest in many years.

Mr. Randall denies that he revised Gov. Hill's Atlanta speech when the Governor called on him here last Monday, as has been alleged by certain newspaper correspondents.

A lawyer in New York City was committed to 10 days in jail last week for contempt of court. He entered the court room intoxicated and called his honor an infamous and corrupt judge.

Col. John A. Oates, who was representing the Carolina Veneer Works at the State Fair, returned last Saturday. He said the exhibit, save the stock, surpassed anything in its history. The estimated attendance during the week was between 40,000 and 50,000.

Harvard's Seniors have elected a colored youth Class Day Orator of the next graduating class of that institution. His name is Clement Morgan, and his home is in Washington D. C. He is said to be by far the most polished orator now at Harvard, having won the Boyalston prize for oratory last year.

The Brooklyn base ball team has won the association championship and an interesting series of games is being played by that team and the New Yorks, the champions of the National League. The World says that the World's Fair and all else is taking a rest until the interesting contest is decided.

The State Fair was a great success this year. The exhibit was good and the attendance was large. On Thursday the number of visitors present was estimated at sixteen thousand. Alamance county took the cake for the best exhibit, but the exhibits of several other counties were not far behind that of Alamance.

If a merchant spends one hundred dollars in advertising and it increases his gross sales six hundred dollars he loses nothing, profit on the goods sold amounts to twenty per cent. If his gross sales are increased twelve hundred dollars he makes one hundred dollars clear profit by the advertising, or one hundred per cent on his investment.—Wilmington Star.

Maj. Finger has very decided views about the public schools. He said to day there was entirely too much laudation of a system of schools which runs only three months and is inefficient. He says North Carolina will never have better schools until the people see that better ones are needed. There is a great deal of goods sense in that observation.—Rat. Cor. Messenger.

The time for beginning the series of inter collegiate foot ball games is near at hand and broken limbs and skinned shins will soon make their appearance. At the meeting of representatives of the University, Wake Forest and Trinity teams at Raleigh last week Mr. T. M. Lee of the University team was elected President and Davidson College was admitted into the association.

Gen. Green B. Baum, who our readers will remember, was commissioner of Internal Revenue under Hayes, Garfield and Arthur, has been appointed Pension Commissioner by President Harrison vice "Corporal" Tanner, who got out of office. He is an improvement on his predecessor, but we fear will not be equal to the Herculean task of stopping the tide of senseless extravagance which has been put in motion.

Our Farmers' Column.

SOMETHING INTERESTING TO THOSE WHO TILL THE SOIL.

"There is no material progress that is well based and permanent without agricultural progress."

Are you going to use house dirt or Yankee dirt—monopoly dirt—frud dirt to make your next year's crop? Are you going to make your own fertilizer and permanently improve and enrich your land or are you going to wait till next spring, and then mortgage your crop ahead for more of the stuff that has proven a curse to agriculture in the South? Have you built stalls enough to shelter each one of your cows separately? Have you supplied them with surf and straw? If not you have no time to lose. Remember that twelve months is scarcely a long enough time in which to make a good crop.

The Pea-Nut as a Money Crop. A few days since little Warren, a son of our live and energetic townsman, W. A. Johnson, dug the pea-nuts from a small patch of about one sixteenth of an acre which he planted last May. He was surprised to find that he had about ten bushels of good, sound peas, which were worth 75 cents per bushel. He planted two quarts and used no manure. This is worth thinking about, for it means that the pea-nut will head cotton as a money crop. An acre of land that will not make a bale of cotton will produce from 65 to 100 bushels of pea-nuts. These pea-nuts when bought by the merchants here to sell cost about $1.10 per bushel. But suppose we estimate the average yield at 75 bushels per acre and the average price at only 75 cents per bushel, and we have $56.25. This is not all you make. The tops of the pea make excellent forage, which will average more than a ton to the acre. In addition, the peas left in the ground will fatten from two to three hogs. In fact these last two items will about pay for the raising of the peas, making the value of the pea crop a net profit. Has any farmer ever made that much on cotton? No. Has any one ever made half of it? Do our farmers average a fifth of it? No. Do they average a tenth? We doubt it, for many are thrown in debt by the cotton crop. In short cotton, as a money crop, is a failure. Then what shall it be? If we don't know, let us experiment. We can find a cash market for the pea as well as for the cotton. For the benefit of such as may wish to try it, we will publish an article soon on the best methods of cultivating the crop.

Alliance Department.

[THE CAUCASIAN was adopted as the official organ of the County Alliance by the County Alliance, January 19th.]

Alliance Trade Tickets.

I have had a large supply of Trade Cards printed which I can furnish to sub-alliances at 25 per hundred. G. A. CLUTE, County Business Agent.

When you are tempted to use jute bagging, remember the $2,000,000 squeezed out of the Farmers last year by the Trust.

"Jute bagging will never be king in North Carolina" were the words used by Gov. Fowle last week at the State Fair, when presenting the wedding gifts to the Bateman Knowles couple who were married in cotton bagging.

The greatest power in North Carolina to-day, socially, and educationally, is the Farmers' Alliance. Its growth is wonderful, almost phenomenal. The order is only a year old in this State, yet has a membership of 85,000, 75,000 of whom are males. Its unity of purpose and elegant business system (which is being fast perfected) make it all the more powerful. Probably in no State in the Union is it stronger or better organized than here.

The Cotton Exchanges are one by one breaking the contract to allow the eight pounds tare on cotton covered in cotton bagging. In fact it really seems that all the exchanges have joined the Trust. At the same time the Trust is organizing on a bigger scale and making its boasts that it will force all the farmers to use their bagging next year. Right here the jute men are, we think, reckoning. Present their host. The Alliance has resolved to use cotton, and its members have manhood enough to stick to it. At the same time our demand for the eight pounds tare is nothing but right and just we must have it. If we can't get it sooner, then our next Legislature must pass a law requiring cotton to be sold at net weight, as the exporters now sell in Liverpool, fixing the tare for the different coverings at 24 and 16 pounds respectively.

Mount Gilead, No. 40. Spec. Cor. to The Caucasian.

We have an institution wholly commendable before God and man, so, in accordance with the organized forces, should do all in our power to promote, increase the value of our united brother and sisterhood of the Alliance. Then in obedience to the command shall we be ably supported in the building up of the Order with renewed efforts. The laws of progress is wondrous its way, alight nately to the superstructure, therefore hark ye, of this the nineteenth century, look forward for better times; freedom we behold in the distance, and its guidance shall be triumphant at the dispensation of time.

The brightening of a new firmament on earth is near at hand, the signs of the time bespeak with a prophetic view of its declaration.

Our sub-Alliance, No. 40, members are all alive, zealous on the line of progression. Think by next meeting will have all dues fitted up for the Canning Factory, &c. Miss M. T. M., Cor. Sec'y Mt. Gilead Alliance.

Important Circular.

The following circular is sent out by the chairman of the national cotton committee in connection with the President of the Georgia State Alliance and the Commissioner of Agriculture of Alabama, calling upon all Alliance men to stand by them in their efforts.—

WHEREAS, Recent information of a reliable nature has reached us, that a jute combine has been renewed upon a more extensive scale than formerly, denominated the American Manufacturing Co., in which principals jute bagging manufacturers are interested, by which they propose to force on the cotton producer for the year 1890 their output. And,

WHEREAS, It is absolutely necessary that whatever should be done to prevent the same and to be efficient, be done at the earliest possible day. Therefore we, the undersigned, most earnestly request the Presidents of each State Alliance to have a decided expression from their Sub-Alliances, Wheels and Unions, in favor of the exclusive use of cotton bagging for the year 1890, and report the same to a convention at St. Louis on December 4th, next, at 10 a. m.

Said convention to be composed of the Presidents of each State Alliance, Wheel or Union, or such representatives as they may select, and one or more delegates from each cotton exchange in the United States to take into consideration and settle the question of tare on cotton covered bales and to establish a standard cotton bagging.

We earnestly request the Hon. Evan Jones, President of the Farmers' and Laborers' Union of America, to invite each cotton exchange in the United States to send properly accredited delegates to said convention.

In the event that the cotton exchanges refuse or neglect to participate in said convention, then the delegates representing the producers shall proceed to fix the tare and prescribe a standard cotton bagging to which all Alliancemen will uncompromisingly adhere.

This action is necessary that manufacturers of cotton bagging may be enabled to supply the demand at reasonable prices. Let Sub-Alliances take action immediately.

L. F. LIVINGSTON, Pres't S. F. Alliance of Ga. R. J. SLEDGE, Chairman National Cotton Com. R. F. KOLB, Com. of Agriculture of Ala. Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 7, 1889.

CHAMPION FOOD

Cures Hog Cholera.

FATTENS HORSES

And cures diseases resulting from indigestion and overwork. Increases the yield of milk from Cows and improves the quality. We have hundreds of certificates from reliable persons, all over the country, to prove above.

IT IS SURE!

IT IS INEXPENSIVE!

IT IS VALUABLE TO THE FARMER!

If you have a sick beast buy a pound and try it.

We have three testimonials, and can furnish any number on application to any one of the agents.

SAXFORD, S. C., August 2nd, 1889. Messrs. J. C. Stevenson & Taylor, Wilmington, N. C.

DEAR SIRS:—We have been using "Champion Food" for twelve months and find that it does all that is claimed for it. It improves the general condition of stock and will cure Hog Cholera. We feed it to our stock regularly and would not do without it.

J. R. ALLENBROOK, LACHESBURG, N. C., Sept. 17th, 1889. Messrs. J. C. Stevenson & Taylor, Wilmington, N. C.

DEAR SIRS:—After using the half barrel "Champion Food" purchased of you we can readily say that it has fulfilled every representation made for it so far as we have tried it. In no instance has it failed to benefit stock fed on it. We can particularly recommend it in milch cows, calves and colts. We regard it as the best stock food on the market. Send us another half barrel.

Yours Truly, ALEX. MCKINNON & CO.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Oct. 10th, 1889. Messrs. J. C. Stevenson & Taylor: GENTLEMEN:—The "Champion Food" you sold us has been given a fair trial. It is a success, and we are glad to add testimony to its worth. When fed to our horses we find it aids digestion, creates an appetite and the milk and improves the quality. It is a great conditioner, and a trial will prove its value. We have fed it to our cows and with them also have improved the milk. The flavor and the quality of the milk has improved, the per centage of increase we cannot yet positively state. The food does all you claim in the line of tests we have made; we shall continue to use and advise all the owners of stock to give it a trial.
